

Samantha Kis

From Fcked, To Fired, To Feminist

Samantha lives in Guelph, with her fiancé, four cats and hamster. She has a diploma in Child and Youth Work, and spent five years working as an adolescent mental health and addictions counselor, before deciding to pursue a bachelor's degree in psychology at the University of Guelph. She recently published her first novel, entitled The Last One, which she says will be the first of many.